TENTATIVELY FIX DATE TO VOTE ISSUE

City Council and Chamber of Commerce Committees
in Sewer Session

Glendale will "start the New Year right" with a bond election on Tuesday, January 8, 1924, for the sewerage disposal system, according to a decision reached at a joint meeting of the Glendale City Council and the sewer committee of the Glendale Chamber of Commerce this morning. W. E. Hewitt of the latter group presided.

Chester A. Smith and C. S. Timanus, of the engineering staff of Burns & McDonnell, who have been awarded the contract for the preliminary survey to compile the cost of the project, were present at the meeting, and the former declared that his organization could have all the necessary data ready by November 15 to permit the city to proceed with the calling of the election.

Based On Contract
The date of the election is based on the provision in the contract between Los Angeles and Glendale that states that the election is to be held within ninety days after the ratification of the agreement, and as the final ratification was made by the city officials of Los Angeles on October 10, 1923, this, it is stated, will place the date fixed for the election within the terms of the contract.

Every point in the contract was taken up and discussed in detail by the representatives of the city and the Chamber of Commerce. V. B. Stone, right-of-way engineer for Glendale, reported that the work of securing right-of-way for the proposed sewer system is progressing satisfactorily, and he hopes to have all the details of this branch of the project complete within a short time.

Care for Million
The site of the proposed sewer, which is to vary from 54 inches to 42 inches, according to the grades which it will have to follow, will be sufficient, Mr. Smith declared, to care for a city of a million people, averaging 50 gallons per capita daily discharge into the sewers, and he pointed out that Glendale, as a residential city, is better situated in this respect than it would be if it had a large number of important industrial plants discharging a large volume of waste into the sewers. The sentiment expressed by the city officials was strongly in favor of putting the sewer bond issue to a vote of the people of Glendale as soon as possible, and as soon as (Continued on Page 8)

Improvement Association
Has Lively Discussion on Civic Betterment

Several matters of importance were discussed last night at the meeting of the Foothill Improvement association, of which Alexander Mitchell is president, including the widening of San Fernando road and the Glendale sewer proposition. At the conclusion of the discussion it was decided to appoint a committee consisting of J. R. Grey, C. B. Hill and C. S. Voss to present a petition for the widening of San Fernando road to 100 feet instead of the proposed sixty-eight feet. It was also decided to have some one familiar with the sewer proposition explain fully the proposition at the next meeting of the association.

During the business session $20 was voted to be paid to The Glendale Evening News relief fund for the relatives of the recent fire disaster victims. It was also decided to pay the secretary of the association a salary of $12 per year.

Mrs. Buckman was asked to act as registrar of voters for the foothill district preliminary to the sewer bond election. At the next meeting of the association, which will be held the first Monday in December, each member is asked to bring a prospective new member. At this meeting further plans will be announced relative to a membership drive.

All Tickets Sold For Fire Relief Benefit Tonight

Twenty-two Stars from Filmland Perform in Monster Show at Tuesday Afternoon
Clubhouse to Swell Hero Fund

By H. THOMPSON RICH
Of the Evening News Staff

The house is sold out! Glendale has gone over the top 100 per cent strong, in the greatest benefit drive in the city's history. This was the report made shortly before noon today by Mayor Spencer Robinson, general chairman in charge of the monster entertainment to be staged tonight in the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, corner of Central avenue and Lexington drive, with twenty-two world famous filmland stars contributing to a night of entertainment seldom gathered under one roof anywhere.

The report followed a final check-up meeting this morning of Mayor Robinson with Manager William A. Howe of the Glendale theatre, program chairman, and Commander Chalmers D. Day of the local American Legion post, ticket chairman.

Disposal of the last ticket caused an amusing dilemma. Numbers of people wanted two and three or more tickets but no one seemed to want just one. Then some wit who wanted three offered to buy the seat if his trio could all occupy it.

Commander Day scratched his golden locks a moment, then demanded: "Does your party wish to occupy the seat by turns—or by tiers?"

By the time the excitement had subsided somewhat a member of the Bachelors' club planked down his $5 and walked off with the seat, or rather, the ticket.

The doors tonight will open at 7:15 o'clock, it is announced, and the curtain will rise promptly at 8:15. Programs will be sold by a special committee and one program will be autographed by every entertainer and donated to the Tuesday Afternoon club.

The job printing department of The Glendale Evening News is providing the programs. Both the stock and the work are being donated by A. T. Cowan, publisher and proprietor of this newspaper. J. R. Thorpe is providing the engraving of the F. Grayson Sayre sketch that adorns the program.

Hollywood, Los Angeles, Pasadena, Eagle Rock, Burbank and other surrounding communities will be represented in the large audience gathered in the Tuesday Afternoon club auditorium tonight. "They might have been ours," the theme of Mr. Sayre's sketch, is the inspiring note back of the whole show. Just as truly as they gave their lives to save their own homes and those of Glendalians, Clarence Edwards and Joseph W. McGahan offered the supreme sacrifice to save the hillside homes of those other communities in the path of the great fire which so nearly caused here a repetition of the Berkeley disaster.

SETS NOV. 29 AS DAY OF GRATITUDE MANY STATE ELECTIONS TODAY

Thanksgiving Proclamation of President Recites
Year's Blessings

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—President Coolidge today issued a proclamation setting aside Thursday, November 29, as Thanksgiving day.

"The year has brought to our people two tragic experiences which have deeply affected them," the president said in his proclamation.

Charity in Sorrow
"One was the death of our beloved president, which has been mourned wherever there is a realization of the worth of high ideals, noble purpose and unselfish service carried even to the end of supreme sacrifice. His loss recalled the nation to a less capricious and more charitable attitude. It sobered the whole thought of the whole country. A little later came the unparalleled disaster to the friendly people of Japan. This called forth from the people of the United States a demonstration of deep and humane feeling. It was wrought into the substance of good works. It created new evidences of our international friendship, which is a guarantee of world peace. It replenished the charitable impulse of the country."

Nations Are Tested
"By experiences such as these, men and nations are tested and refined. We have been blessed with much of material prosperity. We shall be better able to appreciate it if we remember the privations others have suffered and we shall be the more worthy of it if we use it for their relief. We will do well, then, to render thanks for the good that has come to us and show by our actions that we have become stronger, wiser and truer by the chastenings which have been imposed upon us. We will thus prepare ourselves for the part we must take in a world which forever needs the full measure of service. We have been a most favored people. We ought to be a most generous people. We have been a most blessed people. We ought to be a most thankful people."

Deadlock Looms in Reparations Parley
LONDON, Nov. 6.—Negotiations between England and France over the proposed international conference of reparations experts was perilously near a deadlock today. Great Britain is considering Premier Poincare's reply to the reparations note, in the form of a letter to Lord Crewe, ambassador at Paris.

The foreign office says that the reply requests that the reparations inquiry be limited to an investigation of Germany's capacity for payment of indemnity over a limited period of years. The letter did not refer to the Belgian memorandum containing suggestions to obtain reparations from Germany.

The British view is that Premier Poincare has not changed his attitude and that the letter only shows a change in the French premier's phraseology, despite the fact that Italy is supporting England and that the Belgians are becoming more friendly to the English view.

Councilmen Lose Chance to Earn $2.80 Witness Fee

The members of the city council, including Mayor Robinson, are wiser, but poorer, this morning than they were last night, and if anyone intends serving them with a subpoena in the future, he had better have the summons in one hand and the witness fee in the other. At the opening of the council meeting Monday evening they were each served with a subpoena by Winifred Marr to appear in court in Los Angeles Friday morning to testify in the suit which she has brought against the Southern California Gas company, and other defendants, in an effort to declare the $50,000 bonds which were voted for gas mains in Verdugo canyon, declared invalid.

After she had left the council room it developed that the councilmen could have demanded $2.80 as witness fees and mileage, which they needed to do. From the remarks of the various councilmen it is doubtful if they will be caught in this manner again.

Wear Tights? Rather Not, Say Co-eds in Chorus

CHICAGO, Nov. 6.—Solid geometry, economics and football were shoved aside today while the whole of the University of Chicago tried to decide if tights could be considered aesthetic. Forty-seven beautiful co-eds kindled the discussion when they accepted parts as "supers" with the Chicago Civic Opera company. The parts call for tights.

"If the tights are aesthetic," said Marion Talbot, dean of women in the college, "and if they're essential parts of the opera, of course, that's all right."

The 47 girls have their own notions. "Aesthetic," said one, "that depends on us, doesn't it? We'd rather not wear 'em."

BODIES OF 25 BROUGHT FROM SHAFT BY RESCUE PARTIES IN W. VA. HORROR

Government Aid Rushed to Scene of Tragedy
as Gas Explosion Entombs Workers;
Search for Dead Continues

BECKLEY, W. Va., Nov. 6.—Forty-two men are believed to have perished in an explosion which today entombed them in the Glen Rogers mine of the Raleigh-Wyoming Coal company, Wyoming county. At 1 o'clock the bodies of twenty-five victims had been brought out by rescuers who since the disaster have been digging frantically in the tons of debris which blocks the chambers.

There were sixty-five men at work in the mine when the explosion occurred. Twenty-three escaped. The seventeen still in the mine, officials are certain, are dead. They are believed entombed nearly 600 feet from the head of the shaft and rescuers at 2 o'clock, six hours after the explosion, had succeeded in penetrating but 250 feet. If not crushed to death, mine officials say, these men will be asphyxiated before rescuers can reach them.

As news of the disaster spread through the district, hundreds of persons gathered at the mine and state police and local authorities were rushed to the scene to keep order. Relatives of the victims were permitted to go through the lines to claim their dead.

All of the cages and fans were still in working order after the explosion, but officials of the mine held out no hope for the rescue alive of any of the entombed men.

Leads Rescue Band
J. A. McKinney, night foreman, led a small band of rescuers that attempted to reach the trapped men an hour after the explosion occurred. McKinney was overcome after he had penetrated within 200 feet of where the miners are believed to be entombed. The men with him carried him out.

A government mine rescue car is en route to the scene from Morgantown. State Mine Inspector Mullins from Charleston is also on the way here. All state mine inspectors have been ordered to the scene.

Company officials estimated there were sixty men in the mine when the explosion occurred. Ordinarily there would have been 200 there, but the mine has been working only part time recently.

Blame Blast on Gas
The entombed men were a part of the day force and had been in the mine only a short time when the blast occurred. The miners were all equipped with safety lamps, officials said, and the supposition is that an electric spark may have ignited a pocket of gas.

The mine is one of the largest in the state. A majority of the miners working in the section where the explosion occurred are Americans, it was announced. Some negroes and foreigners are employed in the section, but most of them (Continued on Page 4)

KLAN SLAYING IN FEUD OF LEADERS

Row Within Organization Runs With Blood at Atlanta, Ga.

ATLANTA, Nov. 6.—Phillip E. Fox of Dallas, Tex., editor of the "Night Hawk," official organ of the Ku Klux Klan, in Atlanta, late today was indicted in Fulton county superior court for the murder of William S. Coburn, former grand dragon of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan in California.

ATLANTA, Nov. 6.—Police detectives and special investigators today instigated a sweeping investigation into the sensational events that resulted in the slaying of William S. Coburn, prominent Atlanta attorney and counsel for the Simmons faction of the Ku Klux Klan.

Phillip E. Fox, whom police charge with the slaying, still refused early today to make any statement. "Under the circumstances, it was the only thing I could do; I couldn't do anything different," said Fox, when locked in a cell at the police station. When Policeman Cochran was taking him to the station, Fox asked if Coburn was dead. Upon receiving an affirmative reply, he said, according to the policeman: "Glory be!"

"I am glad of it. He would have ruined me. I had rather be hung than ruined."

Outside of these two statements, Fox has maintained closed lips.

Soon after the fatal shooting late yesterday, special investigators from the counselor's office rushed to the scene and questioned the two witnesses to the shooting, Coburn's stenographer, Mrs. M. A. Holbrook, and a client, Mrs. Oscar Heiman, and also questioned all others who might have knowledge of the crime. Following their investigation last night they announced today that the state now is ready to charge Fox with the murder.

Prosecutor John A. Boykin announced today that he was drawing up an indictment charging Fox with the murder of Coburn and that he expected to present it immediately to the Fulton county grand jury, which convenes later in the day. He stated he would seek to try Fox at the earliest possible moment, providing an indictment is returned.

"The case is to come up some time next week," he said. Officials of the Simmons faction of the Klan have charged that the shooting was the result of a concerted action on the part of the Evans faction.

"The murder was the direct result of the recent expose of the Klan administration," said H. R. Simmons, exalted cyclops of Klan No. 1 of Atlanta, which has seceded from the Evans faction.

SOCIAL EVENTSFathers' NightFathers were special guests last night at Wilson avenue school when the Wilson avenue school celebrated the annual "Fathers' Night" with a social evening and entertaining program.The leading feature was a talk by Superintendent Richardson D.
White, who in a short address answered the four criticisms that are being offered the education of today; that too many subjects are being taught; a tendency toward too much superficial education; that we are educating too many children; and that education in the public schools is costing too much. He explained the objectives of teaching today are not only reading, writing and figuring, but to teach children to be able to earn a living, use leisure time to advantage, to be good citizens, to grow strong physically, mentally and morally, and the aim of the modern teacher is first and foremost to aid in character building.The program opened with the

was led by E. C. Tucker. Special numbers were vocal selections by

Council Organized at Meet; Petition for Charter to Be Forwarded

Formal organization of a Girl Scout Council was completed at a meeting last night at the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, attended by a goodly number of interested mothers of scouts and friends of the organization, and presided over by Mrs. R. C. Horner, chairman of the organization committee.

Nominations for officers were made from the floor, and officers elected were Mrs. F. A. Beach, commissioner; Mrs. M. J. Brennan, deputy commissioner; Mrs. W. R. Wichert, secretary; Mrs. W. E. Rount, treasurer.

Mrs. Frank C. Ayars, Mrs. Peter L. Ferry, Mrs. Pierson Hanning and Mrs. Harry B. Lockwood, were appointed members of a committee who will meet with the members of the executive board, when called by the commissioner, to complete plans for the first Girl Scout rally.

A petition for a charter will be forwarded to Scout headquarters in New York, signed by forty council members.

This organization is sponsored by the Community Service and R. E. Tucker, secretary, inaugurated the movement of which this is the result.

Dog Proves Nemesis for Bay Cities Burglar

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 6.—Police today were checking back on the amazing trail of S. Thornwald Rasmussen and his pretty wife Julia, who are being held on charges of burglary following Rasmussen's alleged confession that he and his wife had staged at least 200 burglaries in the Richmond and Sunset residential districts of San Francisco during the past two years, in which they obtained loot valued at more than $50,000.

According to the police, the wife acted as lookout while he burglarized the homes, carrying away their loot in a big red automobile. His capture came about through an injury sustained, according to the police, when chased by a watch dog. His leg caught on a nail as he vaulted a fence and required hospital treatment.

BULGARIA ACCEPTS

LONDON, Nov. 6.—Bulgaria has accepted the terms of the Slavov, and probably will carry out the conditions within twenty-four hours, said a dispatch from Sofia this afternoon.

Berlin Stores Looted by Hungry Germans

sent a note to Berlin demanding re-establishment of allied military control and requesting an answer before the end of this week, the semi-official newspaper Temps, revealed this afternoon. The Temps declared that "if an illegal dictatorial regime supported by military force is established in Germany, France will have to consider her own security."

Allies Foil Return of ex-Crown Prince

BERLIN, Nov. 6.—It was learned from an authoritative source here today that the allied diplomatic representatives at The Hague are taking steps to prevent the former German crown prince from returning to Germany. They are demanding that Holland retain the former heir to the German throne in that country.

It is believed that premature publication of developments in the case has temporarily killed Wilhelm's chances of returning to his native land at this time.

The German socialist party issued a proclamation appealing to all republicans throughout the nation to prepare for the defense of the republic.

Mine Blast Entombs West Virginia Miners were among the twenty-five who escaped.

News of the disaster brought huge crowds to the shaft. Pathetic scenes were enacted as wives, mothers and friends searched among the crowd.

Twenty Bodies Brought From Wrecked Mine

Rescuers shortly after 11 o'clock reached one chamber in which the miners were entombed and at noon twenty bodies had been brought from the mine. Officials estimate there are at least thirty more buried. These, they believe, they will reach within a few hours.

As the bodies were brought from the mine, state police and local authorities formed police lines to keep back crowds of spectators who had gathered. Relatives were permitted through the lines to take charge of their dead.

REVEALS PROFITS OF RUM RUNNERS

Liquor From Bahamas Paid
Smugglers $3,000,000
Last Year, Is Report

By H. K. REYNOLDS
For International News Service
WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, the assistant attorney-general in charge of prohibition enforcement, declared today in a report to Attorney General Daugherty that sea-going rum-running remains the greatest single enforcement problem which the government has to face, and admitted that accurate approximation could be made of the vast amount of liquor smuggled into the United States each year.

"The coast guard is the only force having equipment to deal with smuggling on the high seas," Mrs. Willebrandt said, "and observation is convincing that its equipment is not sufficient to suppress it along our Atlantic and Pacific coast lines."

Bootleggers Profit
Mrs. Willebrandt's report called attention to the liquor exports from Nassau, in the Bahamas, to America in the last year. These exports reached a total of $7,059,294.

"The importations of liquor to Nassau for the same period," Mrs. Willebrandt said, "amounted to $4,500,000, the difference in the figures representing the bootleggers' profits through this one West Indian port."

Mrs. Willebrandt also discussed the problem of keeping at a minimum the storage charges for liquor, automobiles and other property seized by the government. These charges amounted to $200,000 last year.

Wedding Tonight

One of the most elaborate weddings of Glendale's early winter season will take place at 8:30 o'clock tonight at the Central Christian church, where Miss Garnet Peters, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Peters of 209 North Orange street, will become the bride of Loyd M. Culver, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Culver of 1134 San Rafael street.

Rev. C. A. Cole, pastor of the church, will officiate, assisted by Rev. Uter of Bellflower. There will be over 150 relatives and friends present for the service at the church.

A program of bridal music will be given by Mrs. Floyd Mercer, vocalist; Miss Florence Heacock, pianist, and Miss Beatrice Bolen, violinist. Mrs. Mercer will sing "At Dawning" (Cadmian) and "Because" Miss Heacock will accompany her and will later play the Lohengrin and Mendelssohn wedding marches, assisted by Miss Bolen on the violin.

Miss Peters will have a large company of attendants. First to enter will be the four bridesmaids and four ushers. There will be Misses Nelle Leggett, Ina McConnell, Evelyn Walker and Alice Mercer, gowned in pastel shaded taffeta and carrying arm showers of pastel shaded sweetpeas. The ushers will be Robert Howlett, Leslie Bennett, Howard Bennett, Sylvester Garner and Gordon Mize.

Next to enter will be the maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Fern Peters, gown in old rose, changeable taffeta, and carrying American Beauty roses.

Just preceding the bride and her father will be the little flower girl and ring-bearer, cousins of the groom.

Juanita Porter in a dainty frock of peach georgette and silk crepe will scatter rose petals in the bride's path, and Nadine Porter in a dress of turquoise blue will carry the ring.

FULL HOUSE FOR BOX FIGHTS SURE

Police to See That Benefit Tonight Is Attended; Good Card Billed

A capacity house is assured for this evening at the benefit show for Officer Baugh, which Les Marston is staging for the Glendale Athletic club at Hahn's auditorium, 109 North Brand boulevard. Police officers who have been assisting the club in the sale of tickets report that they are practically all gone. The few remaining seats will, no doubt, be sold this evening at the door, so the show will go over with lots of pep.

Five bouts, with a surprise curtain raiser, are billed, and the mitt pushers to take part are all known to boxing fans of this city. Manager Marston has lined up some of the best boys in this part of the country, and at least two of the events shape up like headliners.

Fast Scrappers

Fans who have seen Battling Ward and Eddie Brown in action are of the opinion that this will be one of the best scraps to be witnessed here this winter. Both have made good records in the fight clubs around Los Angeles, and are confident of victory, according to their statement this morning. In the semi-windup, Pete Essick will take on Freddie Klage. Both of these boys are the type of fighter that pleases the crowd, as there is plenty of action. This has all the earmarks of a real go.

In addition to these two events, Ralph Meyer will meet Jimmy Berry, Packey Flynn will take on Ted Rose, and Young Kelly engages Fred Wallace. Interest in these events naturally centers on the local boys. They have shown real stuff in their recent scraps, and as they are anxious to get further opportunities at Vernon and Hollywood, will try their best to come out on top this evening.

Matchmaker Marston is already at work on plans for his Armistice Day card, announcement of which will be made at the show tonight.

Alan McQuhae, Irish

Tenor, to Sing Here

Alan McQuhae, Irish tenor, who has received a great ovation at eastern music lovers, is to be the attraction at the Glendale Music club concert in January. It was decided yesterday at the meeting of the club board.

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, club president, further announces that Carl Gantvoort, who gave his services for the scholarship fund benefit last year, will sing for the club in December.

Carrying out the suggestion made by Malcolm C. MacLennan, a club member, at the annual banquet in June, the club is going to issue special membership tickets for Christmas gifts.

Plans are also to be made for a federation tea the first week in December, when funds will be raised for federation dues. All money in the club treasury is to be used exclusively for programs.

W. B. Kelly is to head the committee of prominent men sponsoring the Christmas tickets. A women's committee will also be appointed.

Henry Ryan Injured

at Soldiers' Home

The many friends of Henry Ryan, aged father of Harry Ryan, will be sorry to learn he is suffering with a fractured hip, received in a fall at the Soldiers' Home at Sawtelle last Friday. Mr. Ryan, who is 90 years old, was taken to the Soldiers' Home last Thursday by his son, where he was to remain until their new home on Highland avenue was completed. On Friday at 2 o'clock the authorities at the home missed him and at 10 o'clock that night a searching party found him in a very serious condition.

Shortly after being found he lapsed into unconsciousness and as yet has not recovered. Mr. and Mrs. Ryan were not notified of his condition and would not have known of the serious plight of the aged father if they had not motored to Sawtelle on Sunday to see him. Physicians state that on account of his age and the serious injury sustained in the fall it is not expected he will recover.

Miss Matilda Spencer

Safe From Yokohama

Miss Matilda A. Spencer arrived in Glendale this morning after a miraculous escape from death or serious injury during the recent catastrophe in Japan. Miss Spencer was in the general hospital at Yokohama, which was wrecked by the earthquake, and completely destroyed by the fire which followed. She was too fatigued from her journey to grant an interview this morning, but stated that the pictures drawn for American people of the suffering and misery incident to the disaster were not exaggerated.

Elks Discuss Plans

for Benefit Program

Plans for the benefit entertainment and dance to be given by the members of Glendale lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. E., at the Tuesday Afternoon club house Thursday night, were discussed at their regular meeting Monday evening. An excellent program has been arranged. The proceeds will go to the Christmas charity fund of the lodge.

Announcement was made that the memorial exercises of the lodge would be held the first Sunday in December. A suitable program is being arranged.

School Variety Show

Plans Are Perfected

Plans are being perfected for the variety show which will be given at the high school on December 13 and 14. Each class is to submit a play to the committee in charge of class activities. From the number submitted one or two will be chosen for presentation on these evenings. The plays will be reviewed by the advisory committee, composed of Miss Shattuck, Mrs. Gibson, Miss Freeman, Mr. Brewster and Mr. Turrill; then by the central committee, of which Glen Roberts is chairman. The other members of this committee are Mrs. Moyse, Mr. Ferguson, and the four class representatives to the cabinet, Dante La Franchi, senior; Richard Ryan, Junior; Read Stearman, sophomore, and Marjorie Neilson, freshman. Ronald West, president of the student body, is an ex-officio member. Read Stearman is in charge of the individual troupes.

Aside from the plays selected by these committees, the boys and girls glee clubs are combining forces and will present an original little playlet. The orchestra, conducted by Mrs. Gibson, is working hard on special music for the show. An innovation is being planned in the form of movies and the new machine purchased last year will be used. Ronald West is in charge of this part of the program.

Bert P. Woodard Moves

to New Law Offices

Bert P. Woodard, well known local attorney, announces the removal of his law offices from 103 1/2 South Brand boulevard to the northwest corner of Wilson and Maryland avenues, which he recently purchased as an investment.

"Inasmuch as this property is located in the business district," states Mr. Woodard, "I concluded I could better serve both my legal and business interests by moving my offices there. The quarters, moreover, will be far more commodious, allowing better office and library facilities."

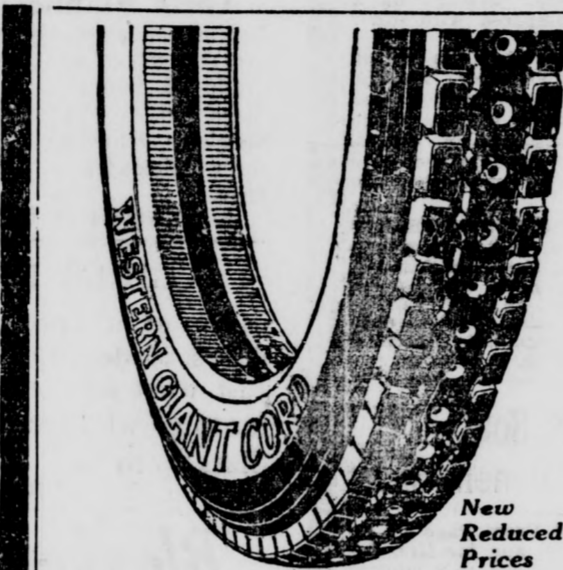

Leroy Fortier Plans

Armistice Day Dance

A big dance in the ball room of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse under the auspices of the Glendale American Legion, Post No. 127, is to be the brilliant climax of the Armistice Day celebration next Monday in Glendale.

Leroy Fortier is again heading the dance committee, and his first announcement of attractions at the dance, is that a seven-piece orchestra of radio fame, will be present to furnish the necessary inspiration for the dancing.

Highlands of Glendale Offers Foothill Homesites in Choice Location

The Highlands of Glendale, "perfect setting for the home of your dreams," makes its pre-announcing bow to the public today, announces Frederick C. Wolter of the Wolter Realty company, 203 North Brand boulevard, one of a syndicate that has taken over this choice hillside property and will place it on the market in just thirty-seven large lots.

Located immediately east of Brand's castle estate at the head of Grand View avenue, and adjoining the Dan Campbell property north of Kenneth road, The Highlands of Glendale is in the very heart of this fast growing residential district of better class homes, Mr. Wolter states, and is, therefore, close to all conveniences that have made the Kenneth road section the Wilshire of Glendale.

Rolling Contours
"Mountain street, already surveyed, will run right through the tract," Mr. Wolter says, "while it is bounded on the south by Magill's road. The gently rolling contours of the ground offer an excellent opportunity for landscaping, while the elevation not only affords the most magnificent view imaginable, but makes the air at the Highlands always cool and healthful."

"Sites range in price from $2900 to $8250, with restrictions of $10,000 and up. The average size of homesites is 60x200 feet. Terms are particularly attractive. Here, close to these beautiful Verdugo hills, is a wonder tract that no prospective home seeker should fail to investigate at once. "The Highlands of Glendale will give to a limited number of Glendaleans just the ideal home site. With but thirty-seven lots, those to gain the advantages of this offer will naturally be the first to buy."

the reports of the engineers, showing the cost of the project, has been completed, the campaign to place the matter before the voters on a definite basis will be launched, and every effort will be made to secure a favorable verdict on it.

It was stated by Councilman Davis that, if it should be necessary, an extension of thirty days could be secured from the city of Los Angeles, and he will confer on this point with the officials of Los Angeles during this week.

The cost of maintenance and upkeep of the sewer system, which will, it is claimed, be Glendale's only cash outlay will be small; as the cost will be based on the proportionate discharge from Glendale flowing through the sewers of Los Angeles.

Gelmor Wants Cash,
Sacrifices His Stock

The delightful summer fall weather that Southern California has been enjoying has resulted in A. Gelmor, Glendale tailor at 138 South Brand boulevard, finding himself overstocked with a mammoth line of the latest fall and winter overcoats and suitings, and Glendaleans are to profit by his predicament, for he announces a big overstocked sale at 20 per cent off.

Mr. Gelmor desires to turn his stock into cash, so he has cut prices and his invitation to Glendale people is "Come in and save!"

Every garment is guaranteed and Mr. Gelmor states that those who come early will have the chance to make first selections from the large assortment of patterns and fabrics.

COMMENT That's All

Filmfund Aids Benefit
Burbank Bank Bandit
Another Klansman Slain
Spirit of Americanism
By Gil A. Cowan

Tonight filmfund does its bit for the benefit of the Glendale fire relief fund.

The program at the Tuesday afternoon clubhouse is a tribute to the high esteem which these satellites of the motion picture world hold for the fastest growing city in America.

Truly, it might be said they knew not Clarence Edwards or J. W. McGahan, the heroes who leave dear ones, whom the community has joined in paying tribute to in a material manner. But, had they known them, we are sure they would have been more pleased to perform.

And Glendale is proud to have in its midst, at its beck and call, as it were, these talented people who give of their time and artistry to a cause—such as this occasion.

Two crime events of the day past are worthy of comment. Very foolishly one man endeavors to kill a busy body in Burbank. Naturally, he was captured, and today languishes in a cell. His well-laid plan was not even thrilling, although it would have been highly successful in event of escape.

That's the trouble with crime—not one in one thousand actually escape. The criminal may escape a thousand times, but he is caught, sooner or later. Remember, seldom does a criminal get away. Crime, like sin, is bound to exact the last penalty—years of retribution.

And the youngster who thinks of going "crooked" will do well to think twice. Hundreds of houses of correction, prisons, if you please, have doors that yawn like monsters, ready to swallow their victims in iniquity. Honesty is not only the best policy, it is the ONLY policy.

The second event of the day is the telegraphic report from Atlanta, Ga., in which we note that William S. Couburn, counsel for the Ku Klux Klan, is shot down in cold blood by one of the Klan's cohorts. No bond of friendship stopped that shot. No wizardry of power forestalled the fatal bullet.

Couburn, as we recollect, was instrumental in the bloody battle of Ingwood, in which two Klansmen lost their lives. Poor fellows who did his bidding. Poor fellow himself, who, as an attorney, got into the mess, and the affairs of the organization, from all indications are a mess, only to sacrifice his life yesterday on the altar of uselessness.

How glad we are to be free-born American citizens of Glendale, are we not? We'll say so. We believe in doing those things which are for the good of the community, for the betterment of others, regardless of race or creed or color, but we insist on doing things in our own way, according to our own methods.

Sometimes our spirit of independence seems more like sandpaper than velvet. An Englishman notes that in American character. But, particularly in the west, we do not need rely on precedent. We need offer no apologies for thinking for ourselves. We stand for what we are, what we do; and that's that.

Indicative of the American spirit evinced by western editors, we quote the paragraphs of a few of our contemporaries, as follows:

Eight co-eds are this year studying architecture at the University of California. They are specializing on how to build homes for women that will be convenient, with the sink in the right place and of the right height for the individual woman, and things of that sort which mean so much to the woman who does her own housework, or the maid who does it for her.—Stockton Record.

Scientists claim they can add ten years to life. Bill for it would probably take away twenty.—Santa Rosa Republic.

When a bunch of morons motor out from the big city and proceed to tear up the shrubbery and dig up the wild flowers along the roadside, swipe the farmer's fruit and vegetables, perforate his live stock with bullets fired in reckless disregard of whatever may be in the middle-distance, it is explained that the trouble lies in more education. Probably this is true, but the education should be done with a club, and not with books or schools.—Gridley Herald.

It used to be said that drunken men and children tell the truth. Since we have fewer children and fewer opportunities to get drunk, the truth is becoming obsolete.—Red Bluff News.

What we need is less sham wealth and more real living nearer to truth. If children were taught that it was healthier to walk to school than to ride in automobiles, and that it is dishonorable to enjoy what has not been earned, and if parents would teach themselves that plain living and high thinking are not disgraceful, the merchant and business man would have less complaint of bad debts, and the nation would have better types of citizens.—Fresno Herald.

NEW SHOE SHOP OPENS

Another shoe repairing business has been opened in Glendale at 104 South Isabel street, under the name of the Michigan Shoe Repairing company. John Chekey is manager, and his greeting to Glendale people is "Bring in one pair, then we leave it to you."

NEW STAR MODELS DRAW PROSPECTS

Throngs Crowd Showrooms to See Latest Output of Durant Factories

The showing of the new Star car models at the Dilley & Armstrong showroom at 115 West Harvard street, scheduled for Saturday night, stretched over until early Sunday morning before the people who came to inspect the new cars went away. The cars had been delayed in delivery and it was not until after 8 o'clock that the first of the new models was run out on the floor of the showroom.

Sunday brought another crowd of people to see the new machines, and the enthusiasm shown resolved itself into the concrete form of the placing of twenty-seven orders on the new models, according to figures compiled by the sales manager, W. W. Prindle. Reports from headquarters show that there were over 700 orders booked in Los Angeles county during the formal first showing of Saturday, and Dilley & Armstrong feel that they are keeping up their average on a high plane compared with other distributors.

"At the rate orders are coming in now," declares Mr. Prindle, "people who intend to buy Stars of the new vintage should lose no time in placing their orders, for they will be filled in the same order as that in which they are received."

An exposed chassis of the new Star, with the motor running, formed one of the main features of the display here, with an expert lecturing on the various points of the car to the throngs that were constantly passing through the shop.

THEATRES

THE GLENDALE

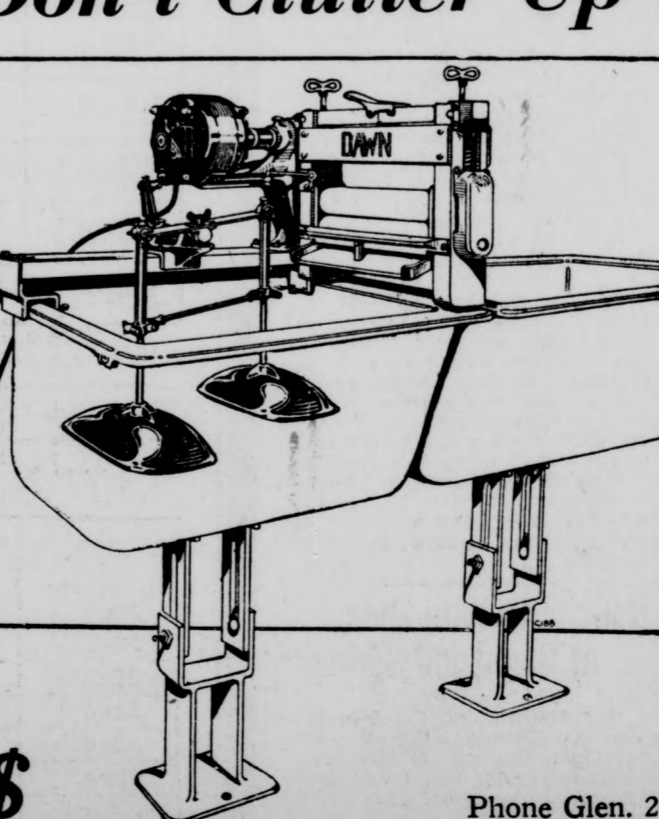

"If Winter Comes" continues at the Glendale Theatre, where it has enjoyed great success for the past two days. Directed by Harry Millarde, this William Fox production, based on the great novel by A. S. M. Hutchinson, is one of the outstanding film successes of the season.

The meticulous attention to details, the vividness and genuineness of each character, and the beauty of the scenes all help to rate this picture high among recent products of the studios. Percy Marmont in the role of Mark Sabre gives a performance that surpasses anything seen on the screen for a long while; and others in the cast are excellent, notably Ann Forrest in the role of Nona, Lady Tybar.

"It is close to the heart of Christianity," declared Rev. S. G. Blaud of the Broadway Methodist tabernacle, Toronto, Can., after seeing "If Winter Comes."

Glendale Library Outgrows Present Quarters, Report

"The welfare of any community depends more than many people realize upon the functioning of the public library, and if Glendale is going to receive the benefits which it rightfully expects and justly deserves, we must have more room, and this as soon as possible," says Mrs. Alma J. Danford, city librarian. "The board has several projects outlined as special features of the winter season, but we are materially hindered by lack of space in the present building."

In order to afford relief, work is being rushed on the plans for the first unit of the northwest branch to be located at the corner of Ruberta avenue and Fifth street, on the two lots owned by the board. These are not far enough along, however, for any definite announcement to be made relative to the date when this building will be ready for occupancy.

Outgrows Quarters

Just ten years ago, in 1913, when the present building was erected at 319 East Harvard, even those most optimistic regarding the growth of Glendale did not expect that the library would outgrow its new quarters in a decade. Such is the case, however. The book racks are but eighteen inches apart, and Mrs. Danford states that in the evening the library is so crowded that quiet study is almost out of the question. The number of volumes, as well as the number who avail themselves of the opportunity to use the library facilities has practically doubled in the last five years, and at the present rate of increase in the number of patrons, even this record will be surpassed in the near future.

Mrs. Danford said that the pressing need is for rooms for the different departments, so that more work of a personal nature can be carried on with students from the high and intermediate schools. A great deal of good could be done, mostly of an auxiliary nature to that carried on at the schools, if the facilities were adequate.

Children's Book Week

The week from November 10 to 17 has been set aside as "Children's Book Week," and a special invitation is extended to all school children, and their parents as well, to pay the library a visit during this period and find out what the library has to offer them in the special line in which they are interested. Last year several of the school classes attended in a body, and it is hoped that this plan can be followed out this year.

As a special feature of this

WHAT'S IN NAME? WELL, LET'S SEE

Ulysses and Virgil Among Hidden Meaning of Middle Initials

By VIRGINIA KAY
Written for The Evening News
Glendale's akin to all the world when it comes to the generous supply of Johns, Williams, Charleses, Dans, Edwards and Louises included in its fast growing population, and the striking appendages that enhance these time-worn cognomens of residents of "The fastest growing city in America" bring up the baffling question, after all, what's in a name?

Variety adds zest to life, and Glendaleans will find a wealth of human interest if they but dissect the abbreviated identities of their fellow citizens expressed in familiar initials and last names.

For instance, there's a Mr. Emery, "Ed" he was called back in Iowa school days, but today he is just plain "E. U." to Glendaleans. Edward Ulysses Emery is his real name, and vying with him for honors is George Ulysses Moyse, while Dr. Roy Virgil Hogue completes the classical trio.

Father and Son

Then there are Dr. Henry Irving Rasmus, Sr., and Rev. Henry Irving Rasmus, Jr., followed by Rev. Ernest Elliott Ford, Rev. Walter Excell Edmonds and Rev. Charles Melancthon Calderwood, representing the ministerial contingent.

Mattison Boyd was the dignified name that one Jones boy received when he first saw the light of day, while Mr. and Mrs. Guthrie named their son Charles Bentley, little suspecting that one day he would become a California reality wizard.

For true variety there's Jabez Herbert Smith, presiding genius of Glendale's Groceries, and to his son gave the name of Seymour Golding.

Dr. Westphal, well-known head of the Glendale Sanitarium and Hospital, claims Henry Gustav for his names, while Mr. Kimlin says that Clarence Ernest was what his parents chose for him.

More Revelations

Friends Want to See How Salesmanship Club Stands

By J. A. MALCOLM
Salesmanship Club Manager

Your friends are watching to see where you will stand in the race, so make the best showing possible. That is the message today to members of The Glendale Evening News Salesmanship club. The first official announcement of the standing of the various club members will be made in Wednesday issue of The Glendale Evening News. All subscriptions received by the campaign manager up to 5:30 tonight will be counted and the result will be published Wednesday. Now that the names of club members are known, the biggest event in the campaign is the comparative strength of participants.

Get an Early Start

Intense interest is already centered in the Wednesday night standing. If you, or a friend of yours, is in the campaign, get every credit you can by 5:30 o'clock tonight. The world loves a winner, and if you are one of the leaders when the first standing of the club's members is published Wednesday you are very likely to be one of the winners of the big prizes when the final count is made December 20.

It is not a hard matter to be up with the leaders in this campaign, for if you only secure one yearly subscription a day it would give you more than 50,000 credits a week, and with the help that others would give you when they see that you are actively entered in the race and working the credits would soon amount to several hundred thousand.

Five new one-year subscriptions would give a new entry 67,500 credits, which would be "some" start in the campaign, and you could easily secure that many subscriptions if you would work and devote your time to subscription getting.

Wonderful Prizes

Bear in mind that some one is going to win that $2,500 building lot in Sparr Heights, or the $1,500 building lot in Oakmont Heights, or the $400 touring car, or the Maxwell touring car—and that one might as well be you. But the matter rests entirely with you, for it's up to you as to which one of the prizes you will win, for it takes effort to win one of the prizes, the club has adopted the motto of "get the best of the good things in life."

There are bound to be sixteen prize winners in this campaign, not counting those who will be paid cash commissions on the money they turn in on subscriptions. This means that sixteen people will receive prizes that are worth while. The fact that there are six prizes for each of the districts means that there will be six or more winners in each district, for, in whichever district the capital prizes go, it will mean that there will be six or more prize winners, according to the number of capital prizes that are won in any of the districts.

Six Prizes in Each District

The fact that the campaign has been divided into districts shows that you are not wasting your time when you start to work, for you do not compete against all of the districts except for the capital prizes and there are six prizes for your particular district, so that, no matter how many credits any of the others may have in their districts, if you are the leader in your district you will be awarded the piano, and if you are second you will receive the overstuffed davenport set, and so on.

There is a wonderful opportunity for live workers in both districts. In district No. 2, as only a few have sent in subscriptions, you can readily see that a little effort at this time will place you in a position where you will be in line for one of the best prizes. Do not put it off until tomorrow, but start out today, right NOW, and get busy on the subscriptions. Bear in mind that subscriptions mean credits and credits mean prizes when the final counting is done. Get busy and do your best by Wednesday night when the first standing of credits will be published in The Glendale Evening News.

Grocery Owner Buys Strip Through Block

George Franklin, who recently purchased the Bungalow Cash Grocery and the residence at 715 East Acacia street, has just completed a deal for the house and lot at 712 East Garfield street, which immediately joins his Acacia street property on the rear, thus giving the store and the customers a right of way through the block.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin came to this city in September from Honolulu, where he had been manager of one of the largest grocery stores for eight years. He returned here a few weeks ago and bought the Bungalow Cash Grocery just a few days before the date that had been set for his return to Honolulu, changing his plans to settle in Glendale.

Transfer $2500 for Purchase of Truck

As the result of a report showing urgent necessity, $2500 for the purchase of a Moreland truck was transferred from the supply and expense appropriation of the division of repairs to the capital outlay of the division of street superintendent at last night's meeting of the City Council.

The truck will be placed in operation as soon as possible.

Y COMMITTEES IN BURBANK SESSION

Glendale and Burbank's Leaders Get Together At Pioneer Club

Members of the executive committee of the Glendale Y. M. C. A. who attended the joint meeting with the Burbank executive committee yesterday, at Burbank, were extremely interested in the room that has been furnished in the Burbank High school by the members of the Pioneer club of the Y. M. C. A.

The room has been built by the boys in the log cabin style, with a huge log fireplace and with pictures dealing with stirring incidents of the early days in the development of the west, and the room and its decorations have gained a wide fame in Y. M. C. A. circles throughout the southern part of the state.

Restrict Membership

"The membership of the club is restricted to sixteen boys, and there are twenty boys on the waiting list at present," says H. L. Finlay, 131 South Brand boulevard, one of the committee. "Under the strict rules that the members of the club have adopted, the club must measure up to certain well defined obligations, and any deviation from the rules automatically drops the boy back to the waiting list again and he has to work his way back into the membership of the club."

Those who attended the meeting from Glendale were C. D. Lusby, C. W. Ingledue, H. L. Finlay, H. Park Arnold, Rex C. Finley and David Black. The meeting is the first of the regular monthly meetings to be held in Burbank, and the delegates from the Glendale Y. M. C. A. were entertained at luncheon in the Florence hotel by their Burbank hosts.

Christian Circle Club Plans Social Evening

After an inactivity of several months, the Glendale Christian Circle club will hold its first meeting of the coming year on Thursday evening of this week at the social hall of the Central Christian church, corner of Louise street and Colorado boulevard. Decorating and arrangements for the affair are in charge of Mrs. Harry Marple of 1539 Glenwood road.

Miss E. Maude Soper, who has been connected with the club since its organization three years ago, is arranging the program and entertainment for Thursday night, which will include a number of readings and addresses. Special guests of the club will include Glendale's ministers and their wives and the presidents of all women's organizations of the local churches. They will be given places of honor at the regular supper, which will be served at 5:45 o'clock.

The Christian Circle club is an organization for all girls of high school age and over, and who desire to get together in a united study of Bible lessons. All Glendale girls are welcome and urged to be present any Thursday night at 5:45 o'clock, which is the hour that supper is served. There are no dues, the only charge being 15 cents for the girls' adjourn to the social room, where they spend an hour with their Bible teacher. Mrs. North of Hollywood, who organized the club three years ago following the John Brown revival meeting here. Miss Soper was the club's teacher during the past two years.

College Paper Wins Praise for Editor

The Occidental college weekly newspaper known as the "Occidental," is making its appearance promptly each Tuesday on the campus and is worthy of much praise. Thurston Harshman of Glendale, the editor-in-chief of the periodical which is a student enterprise owned by the Associated Students of O. C., has been working hard and successfully to increase the quantity and quality of the paper.

This year the "Occidental" has eight pages, with two pages for college and prep sport events. Never before has the paper contained more than six pages. Harshman is also advertising manager.

MARJORIE DODGE WILL SING HERE

American Soprano Appears Before Music Club Friday Night

Marjorie Dodge, American soprano, who will sing for Glendale Music club members Friday night in the auditorium of the Tuesday Afternoon clubhouse, will present a program of unusual interest. The Music Club officers are greatly pleased on securing the engagement with Miss Dodge, who has come west to appear with the Los Angeles Oratorio society and the Philharmonic orchestra. She is a true American artist. She comes from Chicago and the major part of her musical training has been received from her father.

What Critics Say

One critic has said of her, "Considered from every angle, variety and purity of tone, accomplishment, personality and poise, she is easily the peer of any soprano that has yet appeared in Cincinnati," and her audience felt a keen reluctance at leaving when the last number of the program had been rendered."

The program Friday night beginning at 8:15 will include:

- (a) Lett Sings "Nevermore"
- (b) Oh Dear Mio Amato Mio
- (c) Carnival "Fountain"
- (d) Chinese Mother Goose Rhymes "Bainbridge Crisp"
- (e) Lady Bug
- (f) Baby Is Sleeping

Praises Club Work

Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, president of the Music Club, is greatly pleased over a letter just received from Mrs. Emma M. Bartlett, director of music in the Ingleswood High school, who praises highly the activity and progress of the Glendale Music club, particularly the educational department with Mrs. Dora L. Gibson and Mrs. Charles A. Parker as chairmen.

She writes, "I must say that I am always speaking about Glendale and its musical progress to the music section and Women's club of Ingleswood. I am hoping that the members will all be envious of you and your successful work and try to emulate you. Could you ever come over to our meeting the second Tuesday in January and tell us how you do it?"

Mrs. Jones announces that all club members who have not paid their dues may do so before the program Friday night and secure the club year books.

BRIBERY ALLEGED

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 6.—Charged with bribery, A. R. Munson and L. R. Le Rue, members of the district attorney's "dry" squad, were placed under arrest yesterday by order of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

U. of C. Offers Instruction in Scenario Writing

Coincident with the announcement by the Authors' league that only four out of some 120,000 scenarios submitted motion picture companies last year were accepted from "amateurs," the many Glendale folks who believe they can write plots for film plays will be interested to know that—

Classes in scenario writing have been announced by the University of California extension division. A beginners' class starts November 7 at 7 p. m. in room 613, Junior Orpheum building. The authors' inclination that only experienced scenarioists "need apply" should cause all hopefuls to brandish diplomas in extension or correspondence courses in the gentle art of movie hokum.

Oh-Ho Show Will Be Staged in Glendale

Early in December there will be staged what is expected to rank as the most successful society show that has ever been launched in Glendale. This production is the musical extravaganza "Oh-Ho," the production that has been staged in more cities and with greater success than any musical show that has been seen in the West with amateurs.

The auspicious organization of the "Oh-Ho" show is the Tuesday Afternoon club. The staging will be at the club auditorium the first week in December. An all-local cast of more than sixty will take part in "Oh-Ho" and rehearsals will be under way immediately.

John Reber is both author and producer of the "Oh-Ho" show. He has staged his production in more than fifty cities. The show has recently been staged at San Francisco, Oakland, Sacramento, Stockton, Fresno, Riverside, San Diego and Pasadena. In Pasadena this production ranks all shows, having played there five different years, always taking rank as the big society theatrical event of the year. "Oh-Ho" has had fourteen performances in Pasadena. It has a college life theme. There are twenty-four musical numbers making up the score. The libretto is reported chuck-a-block with bright lines and clever comedy situations. The many dances in the show, from solo numbers to duet, trio, quartet, double sextette and double octette numbers, in which will appear the deb and society girls of the city, are said to have a real professional calibre.

"Oh-Ho" is to be an all-Glendale show, with an all-Glendale cast. Rehearsals will be under the personal direction of Coach Reber. Mrs. A. H. Montgomery is chairman of the ways and means committee of the Tuesday Afternoon club handling the "Oh-Ho" show.

PARKING SPACE TO BE IN DEMAND

Keep Clipping of Ordinance Advice for Motorists Coming Downtown.

Changes in Glendale's traffic ordinance go into effect on November 10 and in order that motorists may know the new provisions of the law, the amendments are given in detail by The Glendale Evening News. It is suggested they be read carefully and then clipped and kept for reference.

Section I of the amended ordinance provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to park any vehicle or to cause or permit any vehicle to be parked or to stand on either side of Brand boulevard between the north line of Colorado street and the south line of California street, or on either side of Broadway between the east line of Central avenue and the west line of Louise street, in the city of Glendale, between the hours of 10 o'clock a. m. and 6 o'clock p. m. on any day except Sunday or a legal holiday FOR A LONGER PERIOD OF TIME THAN ONE HOUR.

The new law provides that it shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to park any vehicle or cause or permit any vehicle to be parked or to stand in any public alley in the city of Glendale; provided, however, that nothing in this section shall be deemed to prohibit the standing of vehicles in public alleys for the purpose of and while engaged in loading or unloading merchandise or loads of any kind onto or from such vehicle.

Keep his milk sweet and pure with ICE!

According to Dr. Evans, nationally known health authority, milk kept at a temperature of 60 degrees spoils before the bottle is emptied.

Germs breed rapidly in it if it is allowed to remain at 50 degrees for any length of time.

To protect your baby's health, sterilize empty bottles with boiling water. Warm the milk before using. But keep it at an even temperature of 40 degrees until the bottle is ready to be filled. And use ice every day.

TODAY—Mistinguet Coming to United States; Beer Drinkers' Strike; Monkeys for Science Only.

For International News Service
By HARRY R. FLORY.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—Mistinguet, veteran danseuse of the Parisian stage, familiarly known as the girl with the million dollar legs, is going to America to appear in a New York review. The musical comedy star is now replenishing her wardrobe, having just returned from a South American tour. Her last Paris appearance was at the Casino de Paris, a rival production to the Folies Bergere.

When she sails for New York Mistinguet's two score of trunks will contain 200 gowns, 70 hats and 60 pairs of shoes, one pair of which is reputed to have cost $700. In addition she is taking two baby monkeys, souvenirs of South America.

It is said that Mistinguet's American contract calls for $3000 a week, which will make her a millionaire in French francs in less than six months.

Although Mistinguet is the oldest and best known of the French musical comedy stars, she has never visited North America. Her dancing partner, Earl Leslie, is an American.

"FRANCE'S MILITANT POLICY" TOWARD GERMANY IS SUICIDAL," SAYS BUSH

France's militant policy toward Germany was denounced recently as suicidal and brutal by Irving T. Bush, president of the Chamber of Commerce of New York state and head of the Bush Terminals.

Bush asserted that the industry of all Europe is being crippled by France's "mistaken military policy."

He declared Germany could not pay reparations unless she was able to sell to other countries more than she bought, and that she could not do that until France's grip on her productive machinery was removed.

Only business men, not politicians, could find the way out, Bush said. He continued:

"They must get together and treat the German situation as they would a bankrupt business. They must find out how much Germany can pay and, when she has agreed to pay it, put her in a position to liquidate her indemnities and reorganize her industries."

"I yield to no one in my admiration of the French people, who are among the finest on the continent of Europe, but I am absolutely opposed to France's present brutal policy."

"France maintains a standing army of from seven to eight hundred thousand men. As you get into Poland and the countries of the Little Entente you find them bristling with bayonets partly by reasons of loans made possible by France."

David Warfield spent the summer at Loon Lake. Mrs. Warfield was relating a conversation with a friend who had just purchased a Rolls-Royce, and who said that not the slightest sound could be heard in the rear seat.

Mrs. Warfield continued to remind her husband that their Cadillac rattled. David, not impolitely, but with an air of finality, remarked: "Very well, dear. Tomorrow I shall buy you a set of ear muffs."—Judge.

WILL DIVORCE FOURTH HUSBAND

Millionaire Inventor's Widow Seeks Freedom

The Baroness Erlanger, formerly Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt.

PARIS, Nov. 6.—The news that the Baroness Erlanger has come to the parting of the ways with her fourth husband adds another interesting chapter to a story of romance that has been equalled few times even in novels.

The baroness is better known as Mrs. Peter Cooper Hewitt, widow of the late millionaire inventor. She became the baroness after his death in this city in 1921.

BY HOWARD R. GARIS

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE MUD PUDDLE

The Fuzzy Fox sat in the den of the Woolzie Wolf, far off in the dark, dismal forest.

"There is only one way to catch Uncle Wiggily," said the Fox.

"How is that?" asked the Woolzie Wolf.

"By a trick," barked the Fox.

"Well," said the Wolf, "you are very smart. Why don't you play a trick on that rabbit and catch him so we can nibble his ears."

"I'll do it!" promised the Fox.

From then on, for the next week, the Fuzzy Fox tried to think up a trick by which he could catch the bunny rabbit gentleman.

All this while Uncle Wiggily was living happily in his hollow stump bungalow with Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, his muskrat lady housekeeper. One day Mr. Long-ears said:

"I think I'll go out for a little while, Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy."

"You're going adventuring, I suppose?" remarked Nurse Jane.

"Not exactly," answered the rabbit gentleman. "I am going out to practice jumping, and, while I may have an adventure, I am not going out especially to look for that."

"You don't need to practice jumping," laughed the muskrat lady. "Why, you rabbits are the best jumpers in the world!"

"That may be," said the bunny uncle. "But we must keep on practicing just the same. If I didn't I would get stiff. And now with winter coming on when there will be snow on the ground my tracks will show very plainly. When the Fox, Wolf and Bob Cat can see my paw marks in the snow they can follow me more easily, and I shall need to do some big jumping to get away from them. So now I am going out and practicing jumping."

"Well, as long as you don't jump rope with some of the animal girls it will be all right, I suppose," laughed Nurse Jane.

So Uncle Wiggily started off over the hills and across the fields to practice jumping. He leaped from one little hill to the next one, back and forth.

"Now I feel limber and limber," he said to himself. "I can jump very well, and he took an extra long leap.

Hidden under a bush, not far away, the Fuzzy Fox saw the rabbit jumping about.

"Ah," whispered the Fox to himself, "now I know a trick I can play on Uncle Wiggily. I will dress up like a kangaroo from Australia and ask him to have a jumping race with me. He'll think I am a kangaroo and will come close to him. Then I'll have him!"

So the Fox wound some pieces of wild grape vine around his bushy tail to make it look thick and heavy like the tail of a kangaroo. Then the Fox fastened on its hind legs two sticks to make those legs look longer; for the hind legs of a kangaroo, you know, are longer than his front legs.

"Now, I think I can play the trick on Uncle Wiggily and take him off to the Wolf's den, where he can nibble his ears," said the Fox. So, dressed up as much like a kangaroo as he could make himself, the Fox jumped up to the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Hello, Uncle Wiggily!" greeted the Fox-Kangaroo in a soft voice. "I see you are a good jumper. But, being a kangaroo, of course, I can jump much better than you. Would you like to try a race?"

"Why, yes," answered Uncle Wiggily, who at first, did not know it was the Fuzzy Fox who was speaking. "The more jumping practice the better I will be. So I'll have a little race with you. Though, of course, you, being a kangaroo, ought to do better than I."

"We shall see," said the sly Fox. "What shall we jump over first?"

"That pumpkin," answered Uncle Wiggily, pointing to a large, yellow one in a field nearby.

"All right," barked the Fox-Kangaroo, and he easily jumped over the pumpkin. So did Uncle Wiggily.

"Well, I didn't beat you that time," laughed the Fox, coming closer to the bunny rabbit. "We'll try something else. See if you can jump over the fence."

Uncle Wiggily tried and over the fence he jumped. So did the Fox.

"Now it is my turn again," spoke the bunny. "Here is a mud puddle. See if you can leap across that."

"It will be easy," said the Fox.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health, with Key to the Calories"

Amount of Food Needed Per Day, No. 2.

Yesterday we discussed age as an auto which is being run all day a factor in determining how much food was needed, and I relieved your minds about the enormous appetites of your boys and girls during their period of rapid growth in adolescence by telling you that enormous appetites are normal at that period and really express a physiological need.

Old Age
In old age there is a slowing down of the internal as well as the external activity of the body, and the food requirements are lessened proportionately. Sherman states that from 10 to 20 per cent or possibly 30 per cent reduction from the amount needed in early middle life should gradually be made in the food intake of the aged. I bring this in because I remember that I have "and adults" tacked onto the title of this series.

Size
The larger the size, the more food needed. Do not confuse size with overweight, for the rule for that is just the reverse. By size we mean the general frame. A large frame baby will need more than a smaller baby of the same age. The same principle applies to children and adults.

Weight
The normal baby during its first year will require an average of 45 calories per pound per day. If it is underweight it will require from 50 to 60 calories per pound per day, and if it is overweight it will require as low as 40 calories per day.

This same principle of fewer calories per pound for overweight and more per pound for underweight applies throughout infancy, childhood and adult years.

Activity
Obviously, the very active infant, child or adult, needs more food to keep well and at normal weight than the inactive, just as will need to have its gas tank refilled oftener than one not run so long.

Temperament
The temperament often decides the activity, so these are bound together more or less. A phlegmatic, slow moving child or adult will need much less food than the quick moving, super-active, nervous type.

Season
In winter and in cold climates more food is needed than in summer, because there is an increased rate of oxidation in the body in response to the cold.

Sex
Boys usually eat more than girls of the same age and weight. This is probably because they are more active. The same is true of men and women generally. Women during pregnancy and lactation have their food needs increased. During menstruation there is an increased need for food, also, unless the activities are lessened.

Heart and Home Problems

By MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: My chin is almost covered with blackheads. At first I began to squeeze them out, but more appeared. Also, the skin on my face gets hard and dark red sometimes. I have used cream, but it only makes it oily. My neck is tanned and more so on some parts. Can you advise something that will cure my skin?

SEVERITA
Try the green soap treatment for your blackheads: Tincture of green soap, two ounces; distilled witch hazel, two ounces.

Let this mixture stay on only a few moments, and then wash off with hot water. If the green soap irritates the skin, as it sometimes will, use it every other day. Apply a good cold cream.

Green soap may be purchased at any drug store. It is not a regular "cake soap," but is of about the consistency of custard. Open each seed case with the point of a fine cambric needle. The hardened mass must be pressed or picked out. The empy cavity will use it every other day. Then be bathed with a little toilet vinegar and water, or with a very weak solution of carbolic acid and water. Sterilize the needle before using it by dipping into boiling water, as the use of any instrument, unless thoroughly cleansed, is always dangerous.

Use one teaspoonful of the tincture of benzoin to an ounce of rosewater on your face and neck. This will soften and whiten the skin. If your complexion does not improve, however, after about two months' trial of the above methods, consult a physician. Skin disturbance is usually caused by an unhealthy physical condition. A doctor would doubtless treat your disturbance by means of diet as well as external applications.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a widow of fifty-one years. My people are all the time nagging and angry at me because I cannot dress like they do. I am sick most of the time and unable to work. My husband is living, but we have separated. He doesn't help me. Do you think I could make him help me any? My people are all the time telling untrue things about me and they don't have any cause. Please advise me whether to stay in this town or go to some other place.

WORRIED
Not knowing the circumstances of your separation from your husband, I cannot judge whether or not you would be able to get help from him. The only thing for you to do is to consult an attorney. He will be able to tell you how much of a case you have against your husband, and your chance of forcing him to give you money toward your support.

Since you are so unhappy at home, it would probably be a fine thing if you could leave and go to some other city. You ought to have a well worked out plan, however, if you decide on such a thing, because you would probably find it more difficult to support yourself away from your people than with them.

Try to be more sympathetic toward your people and do not resent everything they do and say. Doubtless you antagonize each other. If you were to try to understand their point of view I am confident they would be more willing to understand you. Help all you can in spite of your poor health. You will find that you are happier when you are busy, and the activity may go a long way in improving your condition.

THANK YOU: Tinted shoes are very hard to clean without changing the color. Enquire at the place where you bought them and you may find that they have some special cleaner for your shade of shoes.

ANSWERED LETTERS

Buddy:—Dark spots left from pimples will likely bleach off of themselves, although you may hasten their disappearance somewhat by applying a simple bleach such as cucumber juice, or the occasional use of peroxide.

R. V. P.:—At 24 years of age, with height of five feet three and a half inches, your weight should be 120 pounds.

Mrs. J. B.:—The cramps that you get in your legs at night come from the same cause as the rheumatism you have in other parts, so the treatment that your doctor is giving you should relieve both troubles. Very often cramps of this nature will disappear if you can get the legs into motion, possibly by getting out of bed and walking—anything to start the blood circulating. If this is not possible, a vigorous rubbing of the legs will help to relieve the condition.

V. C.:—Nails that are so brittle they break off will be helped by keeping the skin from growing over them, and by massaging plenty of oil or a cream into them every day.

C. P. R.:—It would be impossible to say how long it will take to nourish the tissues through massaging with cocoa butter, since the power of assimilation is so variable in different people.

B. D.:—To have attained the height of five feet six and a half inches at 15 years of age, you could not possibly have had any chance for further development; however, you will likely fill out from now on, so the thing to do is to keep up your health.

B. G.:—To prevent an odor from perspiration when it is excessive in the armpits, bathe several times each day in warm water, softened with a little borax or baking soda. After this powder with talcum which has been made antiseptic by a few drops of salicylic acid, about ten drops to two ounces of talcum.

G. E. M.:—Peroxide dries out the hair, which is sure to make it deteriorate in time. As you would like to give your hair a reddish tint, why not use henna, since this will give the shade without injury to the hair; peroxide often gives a yellowish hue that is not only artificial looking, but also undermines the quality of the hair.

A. T. K.:—At 23 years of age, you have likely attained your height, but if you stand well and keep yourself in good condition, through attention to setting up exercises, your lack of height will not matter.

Anna N.:—The stain that is extracted from walnuts comes from the hulls and shells, so whether they are green or dried, there will always be enough coloring to give a deep brown shade to your skin.

This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So, if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

With the Women of Today

By MRS. LILIAN CAMPBELL

Dr. E. Van Dorp is one of seven women who were elected to the parliament of the Netherlands last summer. She is a well known writer on political, historical and economic subjects.

Dr. Van Dorp was born in Arnhem in 1872. She was given her early education by her father who was a feminist. She took her A. B. and LL. D. degrees at the university and practiced law for a number of years.

WOMEN LAWYERS ORGANIZE

Women lawyers from all over the country recently, at Minneapolis, Minn., organized a National Women Lawyers' Association. National officers were elected and a plan for state councils with vice-presidents was launched. Of the national organization, Miss Emilie M. Bullock was elected president, Mrs. Katherine Pike of Washington, corresponding secretary; Miss Marian Gold Lewis of New York, recording secretary, and Miss Henrietta Newhaus, also of New York, treasurer. Mrs. Rose Falls Bros is to continue to serve as editor of the Women Lawyers' Journal, which will appear quarterly.

BUYS CLUB QUARTERS

The American Woman's Club of London, England, has purchased the Mayfair mansion built by Edgar Speyer. The beautiful residence is to be the stop-over quarters for all American women visiting the continent. It will probably be the handsomest building owned and managed by women.

Dinner Stories

An old-time southerner, who had never learned to hurry, wanted to give his favorite recipe for home brew to a friend, says Judge. He began the search for it in his right coat pocket, slowly removing every article from the right pocket to the left without results. Then he reversed the operation, transferring the contents of the left pocket to the right. Still the recipe was not forthcoming. He had started patiently and deliberately to empty the right pocket again when a smile lighted his face. He said:

"This reminds me of the nigger boy who sweeps the drug store on the corner. I asked him the other day why he never dusted the furniture, and he answered: 'Cause I jus' swop de flo and if I dus' de furniture de dus'll git back on de flo an' I have ter sweep de flo agin and den de dus'll git on de furniture.' It isn't in one place it's bound to be in the other."

And he resumed the search and found the elusive bit of paper.

WOMEN BECOMING TALLER

Statistics compiled from measurements taken at various American colleges show that women are growing taller, larger and more healthy. According to these statistics the average woman is now half an inch taller than her sister of twenty-five years ago. This increase in height and strength is accounted for by athletics, freedom in dress, more attention to hygiene and activity in the open air.

"Want-to-No": Kindly tell me how to remove mildew from a white linen centerpiece."

Answer: Mildew is a fungus growth which flourishes in the damp and dark. So its natural enemies are fresh air and sunlight. In the early stages it can be removed by rubbing into the material a paste of soda and powdered chalk and laying the fabric in the sun. Renew the application as often as it dries, until the mildew disappears. Often the addition of lemon juice to this paste is necessary to achieve perfect results. For more advanced cases of mildew the following bleaching agent must be used:

Chloride of Lime Bleaching Agent for White Goods: Buy a little of this chloride of lime powder from a drug store and stir two teaspoons of it into a pint of cold water in a glass; allow to settle, then pour off the clear portion. Add to this a few drops of vinegar. Now stretch the material over a bowl of boiling hot water and apply the chloride of lime solution to the mildewed portion by means of a medicine dropper. When the spots disappear, rinse that part of the material in weak ammonia-water (using one tablespoon of ammonia to one quart of hot water). The ammonia is an alkali which will neutralize the acid and thus prevent it from eating into the fibres of the material. Rinse again in clear, cold water, wring out, and dry.

Children's Week Another Subject of P-T. A. Parley Last Evening

Officers and directors of the Eagle Rock Parent-Teacher association met last night in the library of the Eagle Rock school, where important matters were discussed, among them the present overcrowded condition of the school cafeteria and the part taken by the children of the community in children's week, recently past.

The meeting was presided over by Mrs. J. C. Reiter, president. Mrs. G. E. Arbogast dwelt on the responsibilities of those to whom young lives are entrusted.

It developed that the local P-T. A. will be active next year in sponsoring children's week, believing it to be a long step in the right direction.

Presidents' Day at Club Mrs. Charles H. Toll of Glendale, president of the Los Angeles district federation of women's clubs, will be the speaker of the afternoon at the Women's Twentieth Century clubhouse on Thursday afternoon, November 8, which is presidents' day. Mrs. A. G. Reilly, president of the local club, will preside. Earl C. Houk, the baritone soloist and instructor, will sing a group of songs. Presidents of clubs in Highland Park, Pasadena, and other nearby points will be present.

TWO GRADES HOLD
CLEAN-UP DRIVE

P-T. A. Members Appointed to Judge Competition of School Students

Much excitement is being caused at the La Crescenta school by the competition between the seventh and eighth grades in cleaning up and improving the school grounds. A committee of Parent-Teacher association members was appointed to judge the results of the work. They will inspect the grounds before and after the cleaning and planting is done. Each of these grades has ten dollars presented them by the Parent-Teacher association, where they will purchase their shrubbery and plants to beautify their section of the grounds. To be perfectly fair in the result of the competition, none of the parents who are judges have children in either the seventh or eighth grades.

At the members of these two rooms are working diligently with every available tool, such as hoes or rakes. The winning grade will be guests at a party to be given by the losers.

Shady Methods Used
In Oil Deals, Claim

FORT WORTH, Texas, Nov. 6.—P. L. Ray, one of the 13 co-defendants in the oil fraud trial of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, as a government witness, declared under cross-examination yesterday that at the outset of Dr. Cook's project he was not aware of any swindle intent, but learned later that the organization had "resorted to shady methods."

Ray had entered a plea of guilty to the technical charge of using the mails to defraud and announced himself as ready to "swallow his own medicine."

Mrs. Grace Whittaker, Oakland, Cal., who invested $1000 with Cook's Petroleum Producers' association, told of having journeyed to Fort Worth after the transaction and demanded either dividends or her money back. She said that in visiting Cook's plant, she was steered from office to office, until she finally gave it up and returned home.

Two Claims Decisions

The first held the German government responsible for sinking of the British liner Lusitania and made it liable to the payment of 278 claims, aggregating $23,790,000.

The second turned down the claim of the United States government, which asked for $345,000,000 to cover 3190 claims under the war risk insurance.
